

Peter Winterton

London Calling

The 1881 London , 7th World Congress in Medicine was one of the great medical conferences, attended by some of the greatest names in medical science. The were twenty colonials from the Australian colonies who attended . Drawing on the work and scholarship of one of the earliest presenters at ANZSHM conferences and using the latest in investigative tools I will look at these twenty colonials and their medical contribution to the Australian colonies.